Game Summary:

In an unexpected upset, Captain's Mutiny, after a forgetful disappointing regular season, finally has all their players available, and pull off the shocking upset.

Vulcan Grip can't generate any consistent offense against a smothering team defense and can't take advantage of their opponent having some players playing injured.

Marty Makarewicz finally comes alive at the right time, after only scoring 1-goal all season, tips in a point shot in the first period and adds the open net insurance goal to seal the victory.

Don Maccini also stands out this game, scoring a huge goal late in the first period while also setting up the first goal of the game.

Pedro Fontes gets his team back in this game in the second period.

Goalie Dale Mclsaac holds the fort, especially in the second period when the opponent seizes the momentum, and stops multiple prime scoring chances that is the difference in this game.

Captain's Mutiny got a favorable match-up for the playoffs and finish with a 2-2 record (regular season and playoffs) against Vulcan Grip.
