Phoenix Rising   Barney & Friends

Game Summary:

Phoenix Rising receives a big boost with the return of their top defenseman coming off IR to help put a stop to their two game losing streak and stay close to the top spot in the standings.

Barney & Friends is missing three of their four defensemen, as well as two forwards, and control this game for two periods, until the offense of their opponent wakes up scoring twice in the third period and overtime, as they see their two game winning streak come to a halt.

Ike makes the play of the game in overtime scoring his first goal this season, after a great defensive play by Matty iannello stopping a one-on-one against the league's top sniper. Ike channels his inner Cale MaKar in overtime, takes the ball from his own zone, makes a move to get past the lone defenseman and is off to the races on a breakaway, faking the goalie to his backhand then cuts back sharply at the crease to his forehand while falling down to score a highlight reel goal short side for the win!

Matty Iannello is the calming influence on his team while on the bench before overtime, telling them to calm down and stay in the game, scores the game's first goal while making a gret play to set up the game winning goal.

Anthony Petrillo's addition to his team is paying off big time in providing some much needed secondary supprt on offense, as he scores 2-goals, scoring three goals in his last two games.

Nick Romano has a veteran impact moment for his team three minutes into the third period with his team down a goal and not generating much offense that changes this game. Nick takes a defensive turnover along the boards near the benches and gets off a quick slapshot through a screen that finds the back of the net.

Johnny on the spot, John Kelleher has been flying under the radar but is coming up with some big goals for his team, scores another late in the third period to temporarily give his team the lead, ater trailing most of this game.
