Game Summary:

Phoenix Rising plays shorthanded but puts together a scoring burst when it matters with the game on the line, scoring three goals late in the third period to pull away for the win. They break a two game losing streak heading into the playoffs as they lock up the 4th playoff seed.

Hammerstone is missing its top two defensemen but keep this game close right to the end but extend their losing streak to five games staggering into the playoffs as they lock up the 6th playoff seed.

Matty Iannello has a "blast from the past" experience in his final regular season game, as he showcases his playmaker and game control skills as the impact player in this game, factoring in on every goal his team scores, with 1-goal and 3-assists.

Jose Silva scores the killer game winning goal with just over three minutes to play in this game, while setting up another goal.

John Kelleher fills in on defense for his team and impacts the offense, scoring the go ahead goal in the third period, while also assisting on another goal.

Lee Nogier fills in on defense to help his shorthanded defense and scores the game's first goal (will this be a playoff strategy for the freefalling Hammerstone team to shake things up and give a new look in the playoffs)?

Once again Rob Sheridan leads the way on offense scoring a late goal and has an impressive season despite his team's lack of winning games.

Fill in goalie Mike Viera has a solid game in net, stopping 26 out of 28 shots faced, many of these being key saves, to give his team time before they pull away.
