GAME SUMMARY:

Wing-Ah's continue their winning ways as they extend their winning streak to four games. This team continues to win by getting contributions from everyone, especially secondary scoring. In addition, as stated previously, the ENTIRE team runs ALL GAME and doesn't take a shift off. If you want to beat this team, you better show up ready to play and ready to run! Otherwise you will be just another statistic.

Leafpeepers watch their losing streak extend to two games, as they keep this game close in the first period, only to get caught standing around too much in their defensive zone, watching their opponent run right around them and outhustle them. It also doesn't help some weak goals scored against them in the second period that takes all the wind out of their sails.

Well well look who showed up on the game sheet, as Brian Pollinger finally stepped out of his hockey binky's shadow (hello Lee), and had an impact game on his team's offense, scoring 2-goals and adding 3-assists, to factor in five of his team's six goals scored. Brian makes a big jump up the leading scorers race.

Lee Nogler continues his scoring streak to five games with 1-goal and 3-assists, as his hustle and playmaking skills play a big role in this win.

Dominic DeFrancisco also extends his scoring streak to six games with 2-goals and 2-assists, with another multi-point game to jump back up the top of the leading scorers race.

Tom Gallagher returns to action to score his team's only goal.
